COMMISSION from Page One

"are down to the nitty-gritty, the real tough decisions" on the third segment—prevention.

Recommendations will cover employment, housing, education and welfare programs, one official said, plus proposed steps to improve police-community relations.

Katherine Graham Peden, former Kentucky commerce commissioner and the panel's only woman member, said in a telephone interview that "I was shocked at the inequality of education" in urban slums.

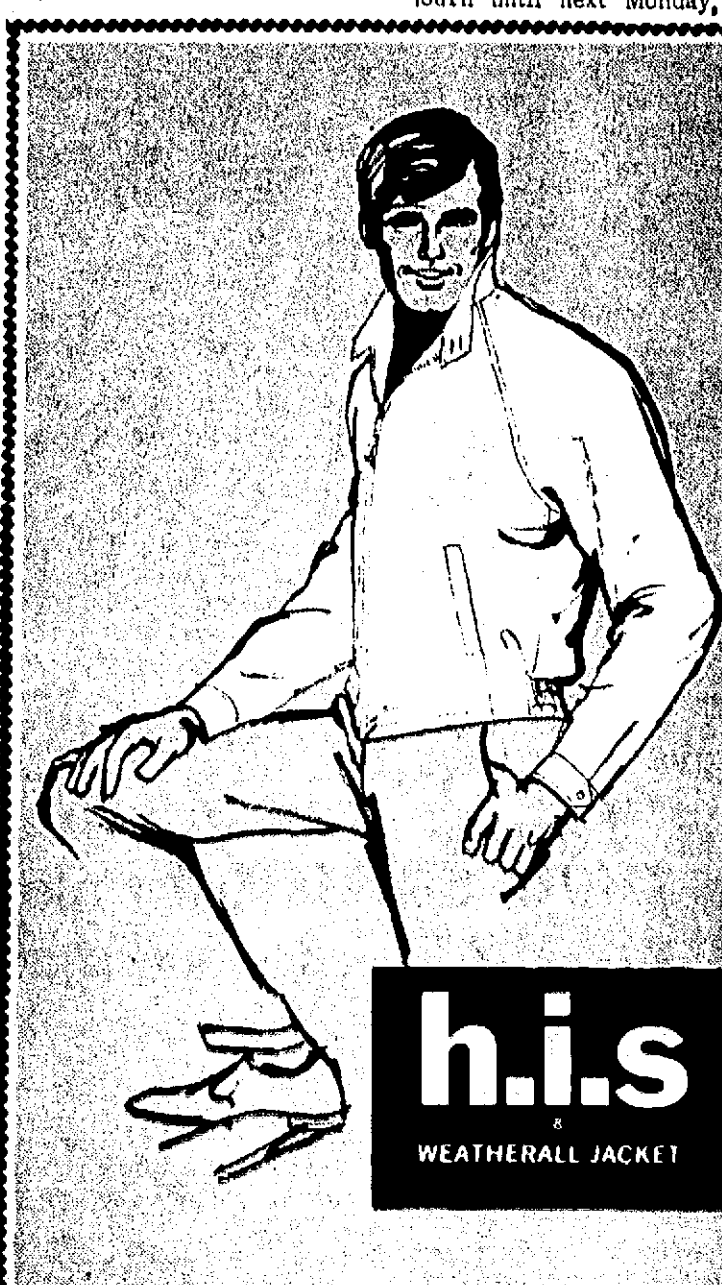

In Watts, she said, the "poor quality of education is the number one burning issue" cited by most mothers she talked with. "They realize this is the only way to break out of this trap they are in."

Employment and job training programs also are vital, Mrs. Peden said. Slum dwellers "realize that housing conditions and living conditions cannot be improved unless they have gainful jobs . . . and you've got to have a better education to get a better job."

"They become so intertwined that you can't separate one from another," she said of the programs. "All of this has got to be accomplished."

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, commission chairman, has predicted the findings "will be uncomfortable for the people of the United States."

Another commission member, Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okl., told a reporter, "We all have to understand that this is a crisis and we've got to treat it in this manner. We can't keep on with business as usual and hope these things can be straightened out."

Pressure Is on Over the Interest Rate

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberals in Congress and the executive branch are being forced by unyielding economic pressures to search their souls on the possibility of changing sides on a deeply-felt issue.

The question is whether interest-rate ceilings written into some laws can be maintained although inflation and credit demand have pushed much higher the returns that investors can expect.

President Johnson, certainly not a high-interest man by past performance, signaled he had made a painful decision when he recommended in his economic report that Congress lift the 6 per cent limit on interest charged for loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration.

The reaction in Congress was swift—and discouraging to some administration strategists who were reported hoping that at least a temporary lifting of the ceiling could be passed quickly. If Congress does act, there is every indication it will be only after long, agonizing debate.

The other principal federal provision on interest rates applies to government borrowing. It specifies that long-term government securities may not carry a rate higher than 4 1/4 per cent. For more than a decade, secretaries of the Treasury of both parties have been recommending in vain that this limit be raised. At present, the government simply can't raise money at 4 1/4 per cent.

But the 4 1/4 per cent limit has long been a rallying cry for those who believe in government action to keep interest rates down.

Congress last year relaxed the rule indirectly. It allowed Treasury notes to be issued for terms up to seven years instead of five. Notes are not subject to the ceiling.

So now what actually are medium-term Treasury securities are selling for more than 4 1/4 per cent, while the limit remains on the statute books for whatever symbolic value it may have. The Treasury still can't sell longer-term securities because of the ceiling.

The private market long ago found a way around the FHA interest limitation. This is the almost universal practice of charging a discount, expressed in "points" or percentages of the amount provided for a loan. Most of this burden usually falls on the seller, so that in effect he receives less than the nominal cost of a house sold.

One of the arguments advanced for allowing FHA to insure mortgages carrying more than 6 per cent interest is that this would eliminate or at least reduce the use of points.

The contention is disputed, however, by such opponents as Chairman Wright Patman, D-Texas, of the House Banking Committee, dean of low-interest advocates in the House. Patman contends that in the past when FHA interest was increased—finally up to the statutory limit—discounting quickly caught up.

He argued also that lifting the FHA ceiling would tend to push interest rates generally up, by bidding up the price of loans, and that states would have to raise their own interest ceilings or see their citizens excluded from FHA benefits.

legislative business will be resumed.

Next week will also be a short week, because Washington's birthday falls on Thursday.

Although the leaderships of both houses talked optimistically of adjourning before the start of the political conventions Aug. 5, little has happened since to warrant that optimism.

While most presidential messages detailing proposals outlined in the State of the Union message have come to Capitol Hill faster than in past years, accompanying legislation has not always been ready. As a result, committee work is just starting.

The Senate's first order of business for the year was to decide on vacation dates. Deliberation since has been confined to civil rights.

A handful of bills have been passed in the House, including the interest disclosure measure passed last year by the Senate.

Although the official vacation dates announced in the Senate showed no layoffs for as long as a week, the actual schedule is likely to be more liberal.

The next vacation, for example, is the Easter recess, which is scheduled to last from April 11 to April 17, a Wednesday.

Helicopter Sabotaged

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Five Thai government soldiers were killed and seven injured when the helicopter carrying them into anti-Communist fighting was shot down, apparently by Red terrorists, the Bangkok Post reported today.

The American-built H34 helicopter was shot down Sunday in northern Nan Province, the report said. It was believed the first time a helicopter has been downed in anti-Communist operations in Thailand.

The fighting has centered in Nan, and unofficial figures show more than 40 government soldiers have been killed and possibly 100 wounded in the last three months.

Now Clue in Transplants

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Two members of a Barcelona hospital transplant team say they have found a symptom which gives several days warning that a patient's body is going to reject a transplanted kidney.

This gives doctors time to provide appropriate treatment, Drs. Jorge Gras and Antonio Caralpas told the Royal Spanish Academy of Medicine.

The two said they discovered an amino acid, beta alanine, in the urine of 10 consecutive transplant patients who later developed other symptoms of rejection.

that it violated the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote order and Rep. Charles Matthews of North Little Rock said those favoring it would be favoring counties more than people.

"I think any Christian person would not deny these people (small counties) some representation," said Rep. Bill Thompson of Marked Tree. After several blasts at the large Pulaski County delegation, Thompson arose again and said, "All of the smart people in the State of Arkansas are not in Pulaski County."

Rep. James Dawson of Conway charged the Pulaski delegation with not wanting to give the small counties anything. "You want everything," he said.

Persons in small counties are just as concerned with good government as persons in large ones, said Rep. John Miller of Melbourne.

"People make up counties, and I'm a people myself," Miller said.

Rep. John Bethell of Des Arc said that if his county, Prairie, failed to have a delegate spelled out in a bill he would vote against having a convention.

The Senate, meanwhile, got into heated debate over minimum wage with Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift charging that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was injecting politics into the measure.

Harvey said he did not know whether "labor would buy this crumb because a labor man can't eat on a piece of paper." He added that the bill "doesn't help anyone."

Sen. W. D. Moore Jr. of El Dorado, who said this was the first minimum wage bill ever passed by the Senate in 30 years of trying, told Harvey, "I assure you labor will accept this crumb. We haven't even been offered that before."

"I don't care if Winthrop Rockefeller is using to launch his campaign, it still is a bill for the working people of this state," said Sen. Buy "Mutt" Jones of Conway.

Wednesday, February 14, 1968

In other action, the Senate passed bills that would: — Amend Act 13 of 1967 to tighten exemptions from sale and use tax.

— Authorize revenue bonds for a vocational-technical institute at Camden.

— Appropriately $37,941 the first year and $87,900 the second for the state Cosmetology Board.

— Make state income tax medical deduction conform to federal guidelines.

— Appropriately $125,000 from the general fund to the governor's contingency fund.

— Authorize first-class cities to establish municipal tollway authorities.

— Appropriately $5,000 additional funds annually for Capitol buildings and grounds.

— Appropriately $50,000 first year and $125,000 the second for airport construction.

— Fix the penalty for driving an unregistered passenger car or truck.

— Require a financial statement from industry for which a city or county proposes to issue development bonds.

Miss Crawford to Invade Executive Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The weekly luncheons of the Sales Executives Club of New York soon will be invaded by a long-legged perfume valentine: Actress Joan Crawford.

The Academy Award-winning star gets enrolled officially today as the first female member of the 35-year-old club. She receives a membership card — and a frilly red valentine — from her male colleagues.

Though a veteran at breaking into the man's world, Miss Crawford was nonetheless excited at joining the largest organization of sales and marketing executives in the world.

"How would it feel to any woman to have 3,400 men around you?" she asked. "It's pretty sensational and I'm extremely flattered and honored."

Summing up her own busy career on screen, in the board room and at home with her children, Miss Crawford said: "We may not get much sleep, but we get things done."

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! This newspaper.

WHEN TO STOP GIVING

Dear Helen: My nephew was married last year and since he is starting a family of his own, my husband thought we should discontinue birthday and Christmas gifts for him and his wife; then carry the gift tradition to the next generation. So we gave a present only to his small son. His father—my husband's brother—thought this was terrible. He told his wife not to buy for our teenagers, though they exchanged presents with us—the parents. It hurt our children, not being remembered by their uncle and aunt this Christmas. This has caused hard feelings in our otherwise close family.

When should relatives stop giving gifts? Isn't marriage a good cut-off time?—WONDERING

Dear Won: Marriage is a logical cut-off time for gifts, but a better solution is one more and more large families endorse these days: The Drawing.

Adults' names are put in a hat and each person draws one. Children often receive individual presents until they reach their teens, then their names also go into the hat. This way everyone gets a gift and much time and money are saved.—H.

Dear Helen: What would you think of a well-heeled man who always takes you for a hamburger? Without French-fries?—MAD

Dear Mad: We-e-e, he's either chintzy or myopic.—H.

Dear Helen Bottel: So you call yourself a qualified advisor! You made me a laughing stock; everyone says they're on my side. How idiotic can you get!

I asked what I could do about the old woman in the apartment next door who ran warm water over her arms until 1:30 a.m., to help her arthritis. You said "use compassion for suffering" and chip in with neighbors on a heating pad for her. Maybe even have a Christmas party for the housing project.

Helen Bottel—champion of the oldsters! Sure, let them run water or anything else just because they're old and privileged! Don't get me wrong. I'm not mean and unreasonable. If you think I have no compassion, well I carry a card in my wallet donating my eyes to the Eye Bank.

Why should I buy her a heating pad when she can afford one better than I can? Do you really think people in housing projects would go for this—or for having parties? I've lived here almost five months and only know my immediate neighbors. No body cares. This isn't like the sweet, friendly little towns you see in movies. They don't exist. Besides, this woman was sarcastic to me when I asked her to turn off her water. Believe me, it doesn't sound like Brahms' Lullaby all night.

I would like to have a retraction, but everybody says you won't print my letter.—MRS. P. U.

Dear Mrs. PU: Everybody? When you say you know almost nobody at the project? And, besides, if "no one cares" why are they "all on your side" against idiotic Helen?

I'm printing your letter but not a retraction. Kindness opens more doors—and closes more faucets—than complaints. If the elderly lady next door reads this, I hope she is compassionate enough to agree.—H.

North-South vulnerable
See text for bidding and opening leads.

One of the most sensational hands of all times occurred in a match in Sweden some years ago. Einar Werner, secretary of the Swedish Bridge Federation, sat South at one table and waited while his nonvulnerable opponents contracted for seven hearts. Then Einar decided to save at seven spades. He estimated the cost at 800 and figured that his opponents were cold for their slam.

We aren't showing the bidding here because it serves no useful purpose. Freak hands like this one are laws unto themselves.

Einar was wrong on both counts. His partner's queen of hearts would take care of the heart grand slam, but after West opened the ace of hearts Einar had no trouble making all 13 tricks.

All he had to do was to run off all his trumps. On the last trump lead, West had to come down to two clubs in order to hang on to the king of hearts, and a successful club finesse brought the grand slam home. This was total points, and the Werner team scored 2,470 at that table.

At the other table, the East-West bidding went rather peculiarly and East wound up as declarer at seven diamonds doubled. At some stage of the proceedings, North had doubled a club bid by West and South opened the queen of clubs. This produced the king, ace and a small trump. East drew trumps and eventually led the 10 of clubs through North for a ruffing finesse. This set up enough clubs in dummy to give East a chance to discard all his losing hearts. The grand slam was worth only 1,630 because East and West were not vulnerable, but the total of 4,100 points settled the match easily.

Also an interesting note is that the right opening lead would take care of both grand slams.

Mae Marsh, Actress, Dies at 72

HERNOSA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Mae Marsh, who was Flora, the little sister in D.W. Griffith's silent screen classic, "The Birth of a Nation," is dead of a heart attack at 72.

The actress died Tuesday at her home in Hermosa Beach, 20 miles south of Hollywood, where she and her husband Louis Lee Arms had lived for 47 years.

Griffith was captivated by her "feeli, wispy look," he said, when he discovered her on a Hollywood lot at the age of 14. Five years later, in 1915, he cast her in his epic.

The auburn-haired girl became one of the silent film era's most popular actresses, earning as much as $250,000 a year.

After appearing in Griffith's "Intolerance," she left him to star for Samuel Goldwyn and became the original "Goldwyn Girl."

Although her career survived the transition to talkies, Mae Marsh's face appeared older than her age and she was cast in character roles. She retired in the late 1920s but returned in 1931 in the early sound film, "Over the Hill."

She played minor roles in several later films and appeared as a mother in a number of Westerns.

Born Nov. 9, 1895, in Madrid, N.M., she attended Convent of the Immaculate Heart in Hollywood and was a bright-eyed 17 year old when she began playing in films for Griffith.

No Single Treatment Of Rheumatoid Arthritis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have rheumatoid arthritis and am taking chloroquin. Is this the best treatment? Can rheumatoid arthritis be cured?

A—There is no single treatment that is best for all persons with this disease. Chloroquin is, however, one of the standard drugs used for this purpose. With skillful treatment much can be done to make the arthritic more comfortable, but a complete and lasting cure is rarely possible.

Q—About a year ago, I became one of the silent film era's most popular actresses, earning as much as $250,000 a year. After appearing in Griffith's "Intolerance," she left him to star for Samuel Goldwyn and became the original "Goldwyn Girl."

A—Aspirin is one of the best remedies for this type of arthritis. Persons with this disease can tolerate much larger doses of aspirin and other analgesics than other persons can. Taking this drug for a prolonged period will not decrease its effectiveness.

Q—I have osteoarthritis of the spine. Two years ago a doctor gave me Percodan, which took the pain away. Now no doctor will prescribe it for me. Why?

A—It is habit-forming. You would be well advised to switch to one of the many other drugs that are used to treat this disease.

Q—I am a woman, 57. I feel fine when I am sitting or lying down but when I get up, I am stiff and my joints ache. After I walk a bit, this eases up, but if I sit for a few minutes I get stiff all over again. Is this muscular rheumatism? A—What you have described is known as jelling of the joints. This is characteristic of osteoarthritis and the arthritis that accompanies some acute infectious diseases, but not of muscular rheumatism.

Q—After a fall, I developed a mild arthritis of my shoulder and elbow. I play golf without bringing on any pain. Could this aggravate my arthritis?

A—Not so long as it causes no pain. In cases of traumatic arthritis, complete recovery is the rule.

Q—Could my arthritis be caused by air conditioning, diet, heredity or is it just age?

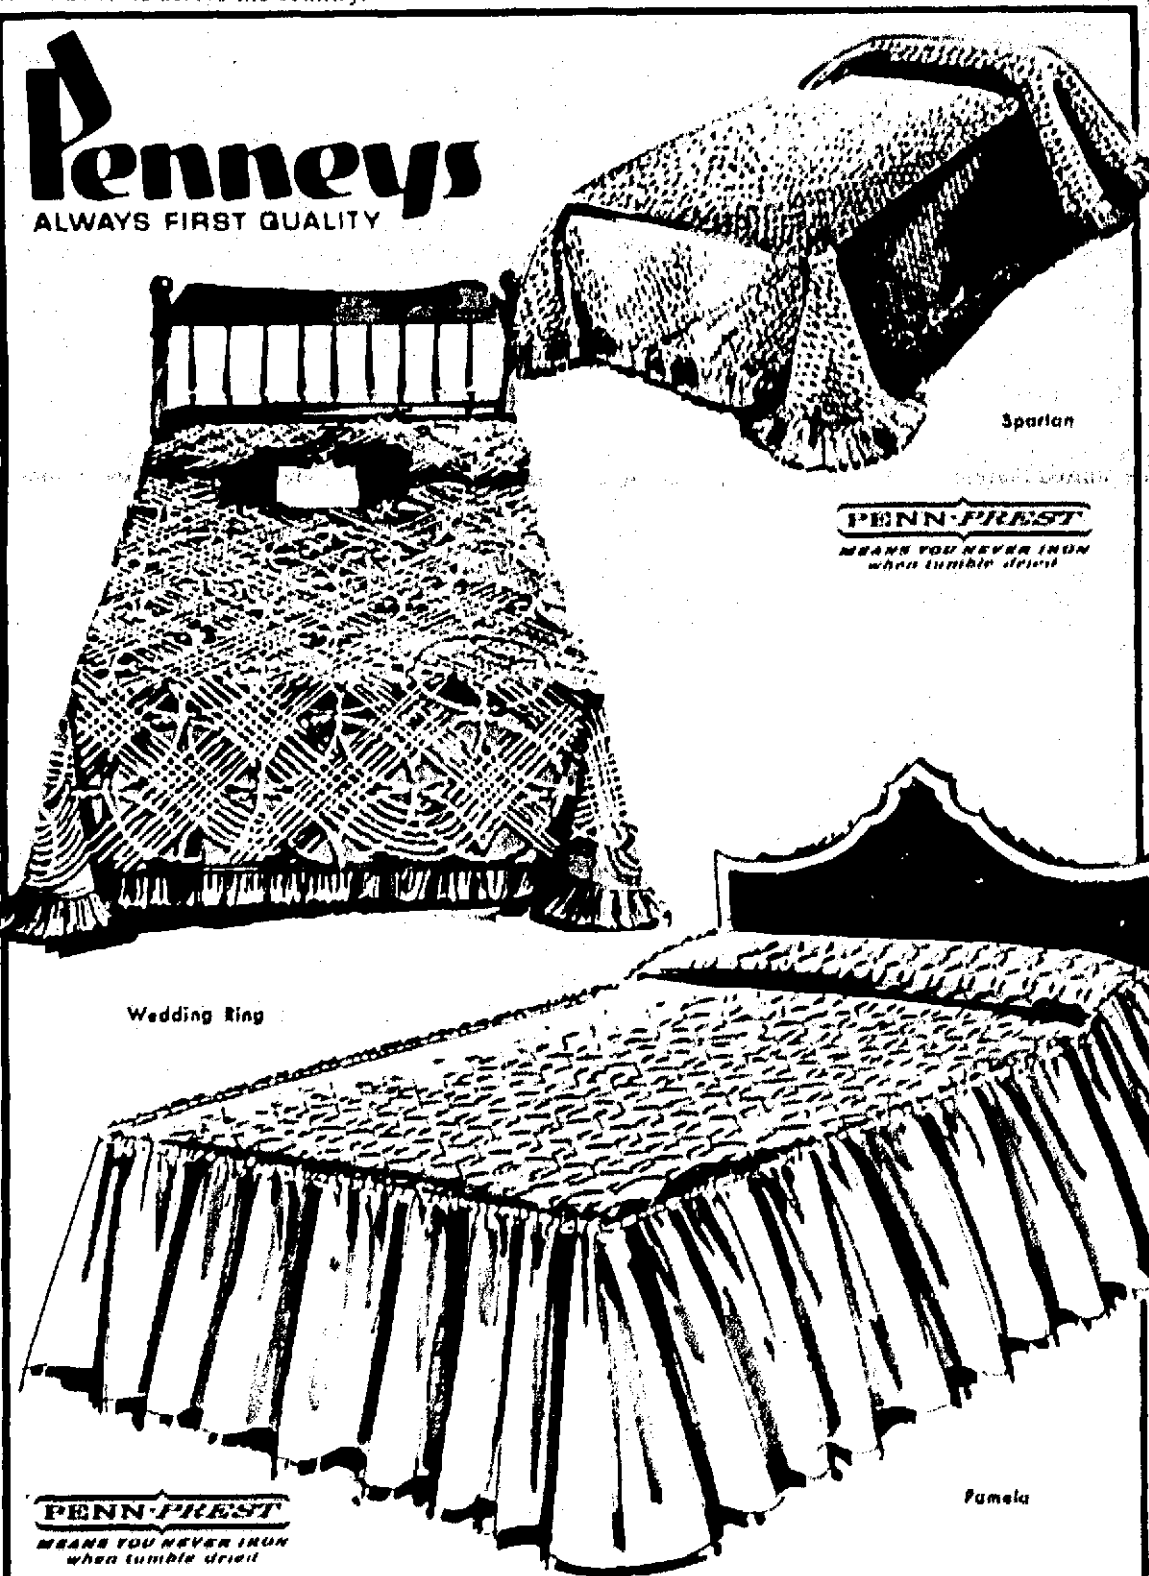

A—If by air conditioning you mean sitting in a draft, this will not cause arthritis but will aggravate it. With the exception of gouty arthritis, diet would not be a causative factor. Heredity and age are factors in osteoarthritis.

Postmaster Fred C. Brewer said today 70,000 valentines were sent to him for remailing this year, down 30,000 from the annual average the past few years.

Each valentine remailed from Loveland was hand stamped with this poem:

His darts fly everywhere.
So let your heart be target

Americans Are Hit by Mishaps

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — "We wouldn't have been surprised if our skiers had started falling out of the chair lifts," Bob Beattie, coach of the U.S. Alpine team, said today. "I've never seen such atrocious luck. But I'll say this for the kids. They have refused to get down in the mouth. They keep fighting back. They've got a lot of guts."

For a brief moment Tuesday, it appeared that America's run of misfortune on the Alpine slopes here may have found a golden rainbow. After the first of two runs in the ladies' special slalom, the U.S. girls were placed at 1-2-4-6.

The Olympic gold medal looked better than possible. To it might be added the silver, or even a sweep.

Then in the bat of an eyelash, the picture changed. Wendy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., who had the fastest time of all, had missed a gate. So had Rosie Fortna of Warren, Vt., who was fourth, and Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore., sixth. All disqualified.

Only 16-year-old Judy Nagel was left but she led the parade with an narrow eight-hundredths of a second lead over Marielle Gotschel, the favorite, and 26-hundredths over world champion Judy Greene of Canada.

There still was hope for a medal.

Then Judy, in her first major international competition, became tense and fell twice before reaching the fourth gate. Instead of a medal, the Americans had nothing but frustration.

"That's the way it's been ever since we've been here," said Beattie. "Just one break, one little break — that's all we've asked. We've had none."

The team was beset by dissension before the Games ever started. A week before the official opening, Beattie removed veterans Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., and Sandra Shellworth of Boise, Idaho, and replaced them with teen-agers Judy Allen, 16, and Kiki Cutter, 18.

There was a mild flap over what uniforms the downhill girls should wear — the official blue ones or the skin-tight silver ones made by a friend of Sue Chaffee.

On the day before the Games opened, Robin Morning, 20-year-old downhill ace from Santa Monica, Calif., took a spill and broke her leg in two places.

Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt., the main American hope for a medal, wrenched an ankle but remained in the competition.

In the men's downhill, Jim Barrows dislocated a hip and Jere Elliott suffered two sprained ankles and a collar bone injury. The two Steamboat Springs, Colo., men were put out for the duration.

"If they gave gold medals for the 2,000-meter run to the hospital or silvers for stitches and plaster casts, we'd take home a bundle," said one discouraged team member.

Beattie was asked about possible criticism in his choice of inexperienced youngsters over the more seasoned campaigners.

"I don't have to apologize for Kiki Cutter and Judy Nagel," he said. "They've kept us going." The American coach said that spirits around the American Village remained high despite the repeated setbacks.

"These kids don't know what it is to whine," Beattie added. "They're all heart."

Tears are for coaches — and Beattie brushed a few away.

Three East German girls, including defending Olympic champion Orrun Enderlein, were disqualified Tuesday in the women's singles luge competition for heating the runners of their sleds to make them go faster.

Miss Enderlein was leading when the International Luge Federation jury met in emergency session and announced the disqualifications. The other East German girls were Anna Maria Mueller, second at the time, and Angela Knoessel, fourth at the time.

Porks Blow Lead to Texas Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks blew what appeared to be a commanding 14-point halftime lead here Tuesday night and Texas Tech scored a stunning 74-72 upset victory in a Southwest Conference game.

The Razorbacks remained in a tie for second place in the conference, however, since Texas Christian also lost. The Razorbacks also didn't lose any ground to league-leading Baylor, which bowed to Texas 79-65.

Texas Tech's Lee Tynes brought Tech from behind with 29 seconds remaining to tie the game at 72-72. Then with only two seconds left in the game, Tynes tipped in a missed field goal to give Tech the victory.

Both teams missed free throws in the closing seconds that would have put either team into the lead.

With 16 seconds to go, Jim Nelson missed a free toss that would have put Tech into the lead for the first time since midway in the first half.

Three seconds later, Arkansas' Bobby Vint was fouled but he also missed the free throw and Tech grabbed the rebound.

Nelson then launched a high arch shot from 25-foot out. The ball bounced off the rim and Tynes leaped high to push it in for the winning basket.

Arkansas gave the Red Raiders a six-point lead early in the game then caught up before its scoring spurt late in the half that pushed the Razorbacks into a 43-29 lead at the half.

James Eldridge of Arkansas and Vernon Paul of Tech tied for scoring honors in the game with 17 points.

The Razorbacks lost Eldridge and Gary Stephens on fouls.

Tech is now 3-6 on conference play and Arkansas is 5-4.

Hawkins Is Well, Pipers Post a Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Connie Hawkins of the Pittsburgh Pipers is well and the rest of the American Basketball Association is sick.

Hawkins was out of action for a couple of weeks with a blood clot behind his left knee. He returned to action Monday, and Tuesday he scored 36 points and pulled in 20 rebounds as the Pipers beat New Jersey 118-114.

The Pipers are one game ahead of Minnesota in the ABA's Eastern Division.

In other ABA games, Indiana beat Oakland 120-109 and Kentucky turned back Anaheim 104-100.

In the NBA Los Angeles beat Baltimore 119-116 in overtime. Chicago took San Diego 114-102, Boston topped Detroit 127-115, St. Louis downed Cincinnati 123-111 and Philadelphia whipped San Francisco 112-105.

Lavern Tart scored 26 points for the losing Americans, who took a brief lead in the second period. But then the Pipers threw in 11 straight points, going ahead for good.

Indiana scored 45 points in the fourth period, Roger Brown getting 15, to go ahead of Kentucky. Brown finished with 37 points. Jim Hadnot scored 28 points for Oakland.

Kentucky, trailing by 11 points midway in the game, scored eight in a row while Anaheim went scoreless for a 7½ minute span and the Colonels went on to win. The Amigos also had a late cold spell at the foul line, converting only three of 13 free throws.

Joe Caldwell led Kentucky with 25 points. Ben Warley, who injured an ankle in the third period and had to leave the game, topped Anaheim with 22.

Juniors Lose in Tournament

By RALPH RUTON

Fighting hard but in vain, the Hope Bobkittens wound up their '67-68 campaign on the losing end, falling to the Smackover Bucks 41-30 in the first round of the 4-AA tournament at Smackover Monday night.

Coach Caylord Solomon of the Bobkittens, realizing that the team's rebounding strength was sapped by the injury to Lynn Norton last weekend, instructed his forces to take it easy on the offense.

And the ball control method nearly worked, as the Kittens actually led 13-12 midway in the second quarter, only to fall back

From there on the Bobkittens couldn't get closer than six points, although they maintained about a 60 per cent shooting average to the end. With three minutes to play Smackover's lead was cut to six, but the Hope press gave a few easy baskets at the end to increase the final margin.

Ronnie Massanelli knocked in 10 points to pace the Kittens, and Charles Rateliff had his best game with 9. Parker Powell added 5, Bill Lee had 4, and Scott Gunter contributed 2. Terry Bolton meshed 15 and Gregory Williams 12 to lead Smackover.

Tonight at Jones Field House there will be a March of Dimes benefit of two games. The Jaycoes meet the Kwanlans in the opener, to be followed by a scrap between the Perry's Truck Stop Independents and the Hope coaches. may be a success, but financially the 10th Winter Olympic Games are turning out to be a bust.

"We had expected 40,000 people a day," explained a Grenoble city official who asked to remain unnamed. "Frankly, we had that many opening day and last Sunday, but the rest of the time we have run far below expectations."

Ticket sales for the Olympic events are also running far below the 1964 attendance at Innsbruck. While the figure skating and important hockey games in the 12,000 seat Stade de Glace are officially sold out, the outdoor events have had sparse attendance generally.

"Television is a great factor but so is the international political situation," the Grenoble city official added. "About one-third of the Americans who made reservations still have not shown up or have cut their stay short."

"The business people are very upset. Many expected to make back their investment in the 12 days of the Games, and it is just beginning to hit them what a mistake that expectation was."

Some of the shopkeepers have already given up. Many had set up stalls in an area near the Olympic Village, but some of these have already closed.

Cadets in 12th Win in a Row

And the caissons go rolling along.

In other words, the Army basketball team is having its best season in years and seems certain of a bid to one of the two major postseason tournaments, the NCAA or the NIT.

The West Point Cadets made it 12 in a row, their longest winning streak in 22 years, by routing Colgate 86-52 at the Point Tuesday. Bill Schutsky's 28 points and 12 rebounds paced the Black Knights of the Hudson to their 18th triumph against only three defeats.

Since then, the Cadets have bowled over in succession Yale, Georgetown, D.C., Temple, Fordham, Dartmouth, Manhattan, Penn State, NYU, Syracuse, Rutgers, St. John's of New York and Colgate.

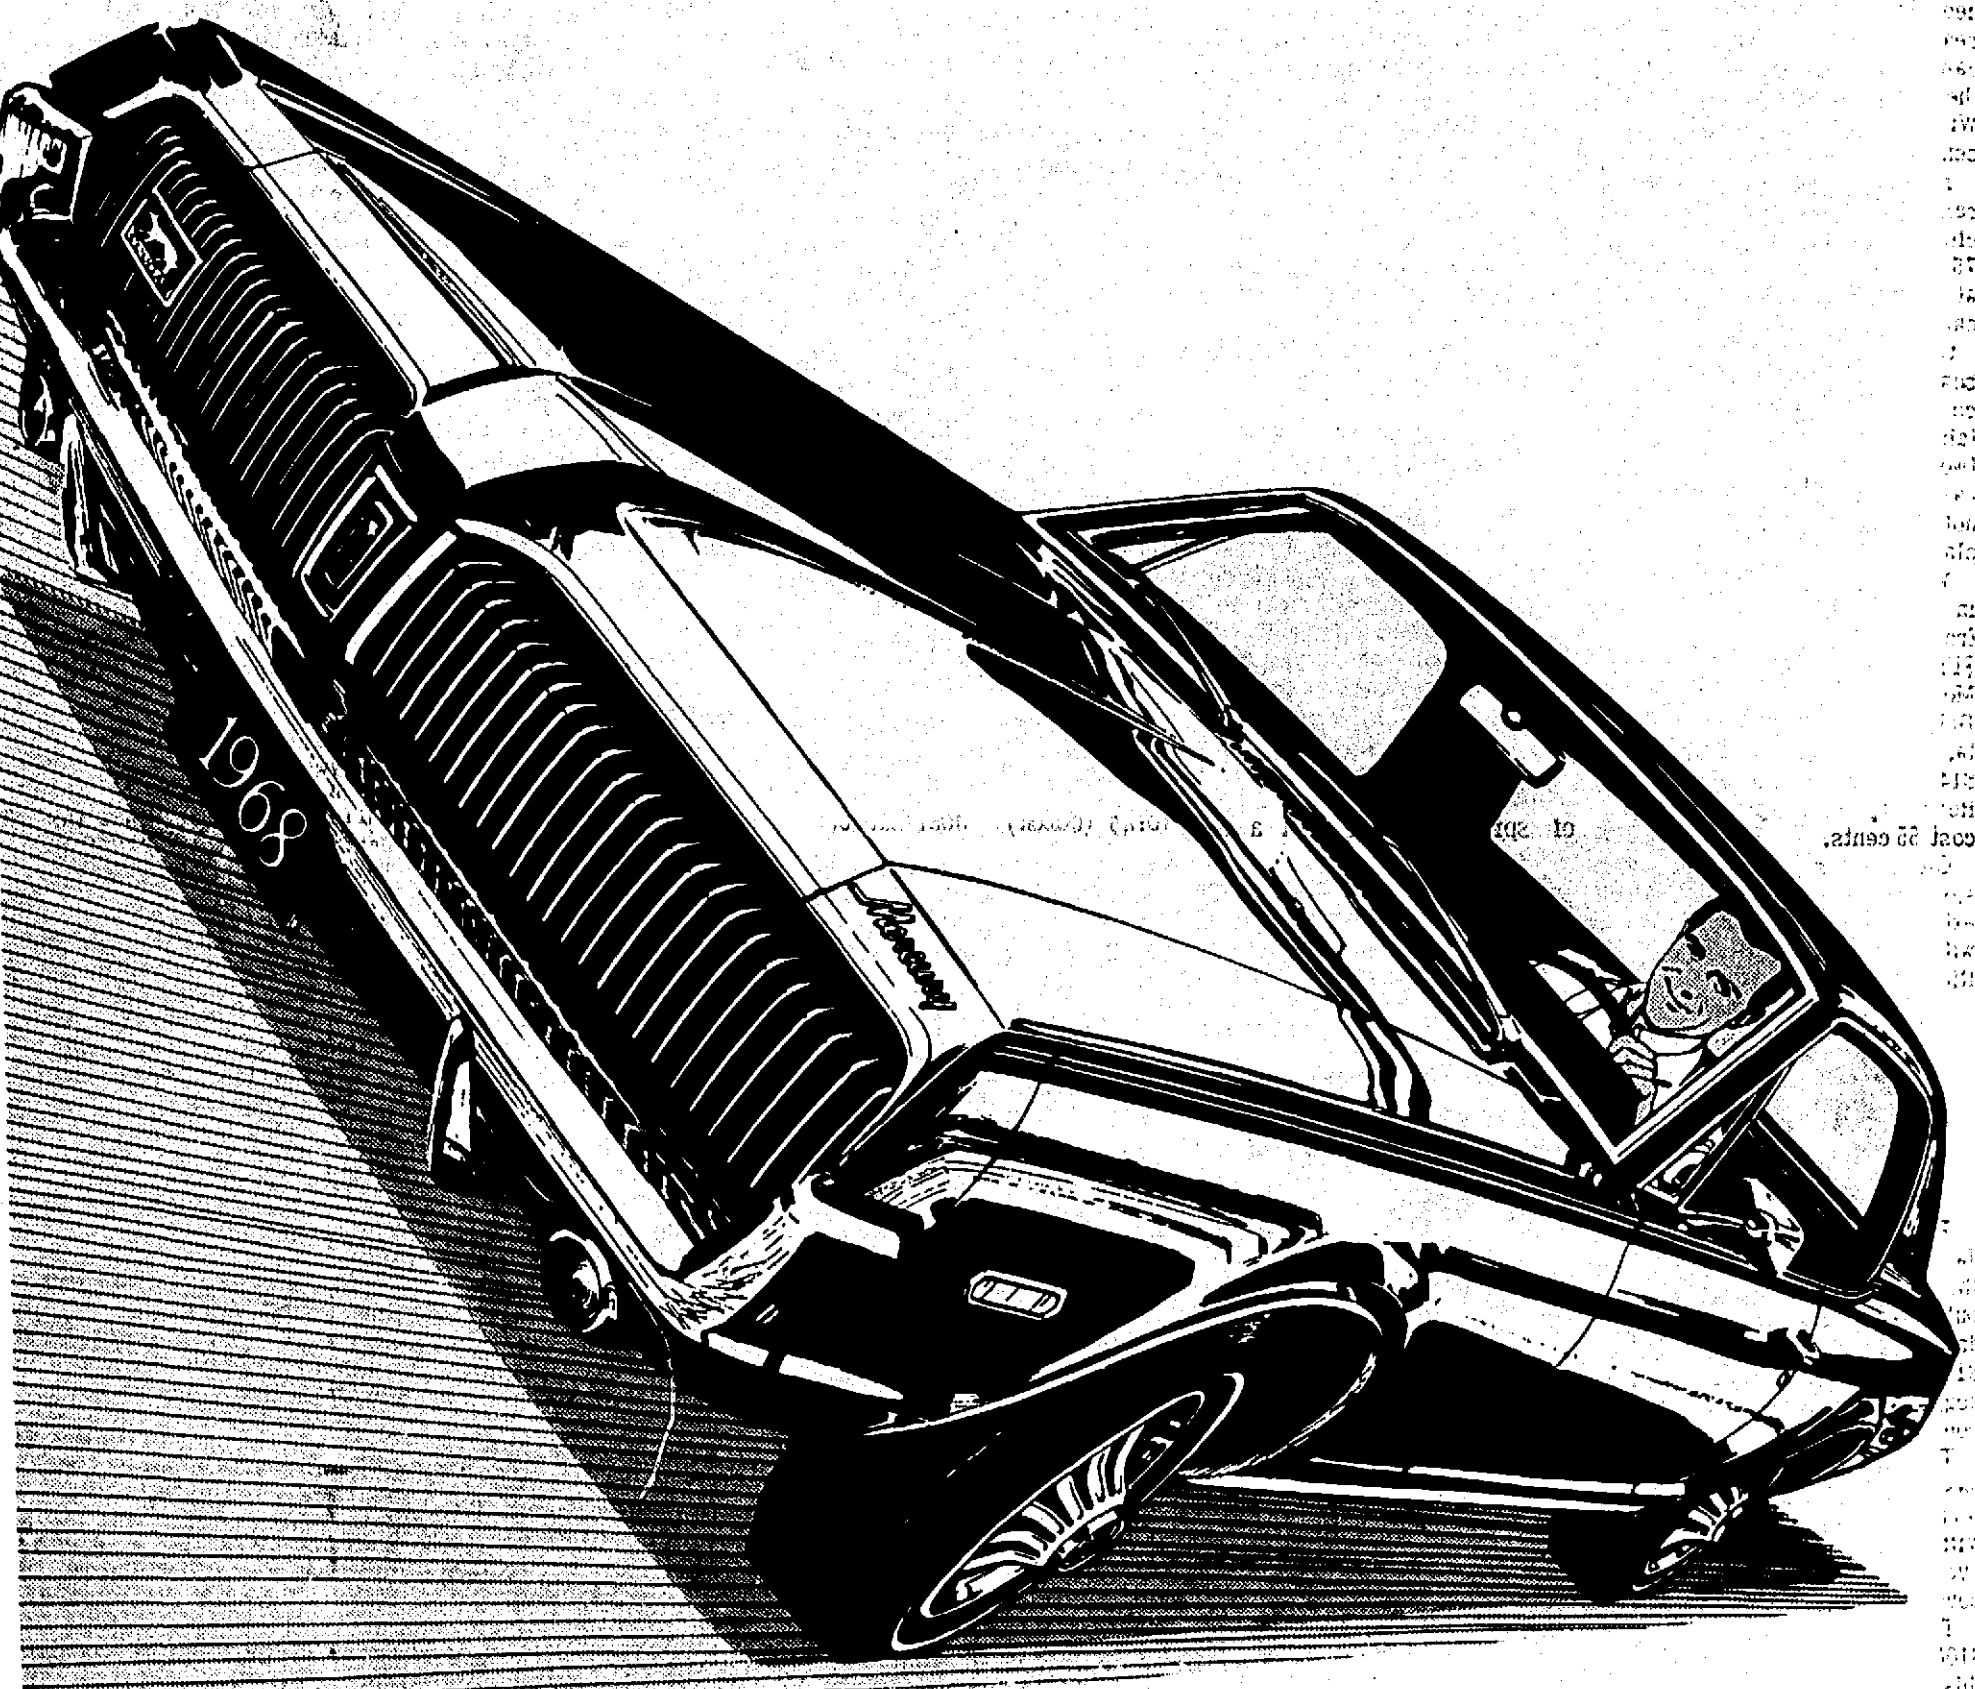

Army's come-from-behind 55-54 road victory last week over St. John's was particularly gratifying. The Redmen bounced back with a road victory of their own Tuesday by edging Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind., 83-81.

John Warren won the game for St. John's by sinking a 12-foot jump shot with just three seconds left.

In other games, on a night in which all the Top Ten in The Associated Press poll were idle, Temple downed Navy at Annapolis 73-63 behind John Baum's 27 points and Chicago Loyola took Marshall at home 109-93.

Bradley beat Drake 96-88, Texas A&M whipped Rice 78-58, Texas defeated Baylor 79-65, Texas Tech edged Arkansas 74-72 and Boston College routed Rhode Island 125-73, West Virginia nipped Richmond 84-83, Maryland downed Virginia 85-76 and Rutgers beat Connecticut 71-66.

Rookies in Baseball Sophisticated

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The snipe hunt by a rookie with a gunny sack and a lighted lamp has long since disappeared from the baseball training camps. The sophisticated rookie of 1968 will drive up in a sports car, pick up his copy of the Wall Street Journal and head for the pool.

The contrast between the present way of life in camp is just as shocking as the change between the manner of everyday living in the not-so-gay '90s and the jet age.

Joe Reichler, a former Associated Press sports writer and now public relations man for Commissioner William Eckert, dug through his records to provide some interesting information about the old days. His research was prompted by a recent announcement that big league ball players will get $40 weekly expense money, in addition to room and board, while in camp.

Back in 1892 when the National League was a 12-team league, $40.00 was more than enough to cover a player's total expenses for an entire training season. The files show the 1892 Philites, managed by Harry Wright, needed 40 hours by train to reach their Gainesville, Fla., camp. The round trip tickets for the 14 athletes cost $404.60. Wright also got $200 for expenses.

Breakfast at the Richmond railroad station for the entire club cost $10.50 for 14 people at 75 cents each. Lunch and supper at a restaurant cost 50 cents each for each player.

Once in camp, the room and board at the Gainesville Hotel cost $10.00 a week a man. The tab for the 16 players, including two who joined them at the camp, came to $325.64. That did not include the bills for two players' wives.

Wright picked up a little cash in exhibition games. The take from a March 10 game was $17.50. An exhibition with John Montgomery Ward's Brooklyn Bridegrooms from nearby Ocala, Fla., produced $30.80, plus $14.00 for grandstand seats. However, the groundskeeper cost 55 cents.

On the trip home, after an s.o.s. to the home office for $350 extra cash, an exhibition game with the New York Giants in Richmond brought in $219.25 but advertising cost $20.00, a license $3.00, rent $5.00 and tolls $7.90. Each club collected $91.67.

At the end of the trip, Wright returned $103.51 to the treasurer, John I. Rogers. Gate receipts had been $662.09 plus $573.20 in cash from sources unknown. Total expenses ran to $1,131.78 so the month's trip cost the club $469.69.

Reichler pointed out it will run somewhat higher this year. The average spring training expense of a big league team in 1967 was $105,000, average income from the gate $50,000. That left a net expense of $55,000.

These were the first reported by Arkansas on the first day of signing, which Coach Frank Broyles said was the most successful he had ever had in Arkansas.

Several Baseball Trades Made

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Los Angeles Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants as well as the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators came up with trades in major league baseball Tuesday, with the start of spring training just a few weeks away.

The Dodgers traded second baseman Ron Hunt and utility infielder Nate Oliver to the Giants for catcher Tom Haller and a minor league player to be named later.

The White Sox traded shortstop Ron Hansen, pitchers Dennis Higgins and Steve Jones to the Senators for second baseman Tim Cullen and pitcher Bob Priddy and Buster Narum. Bob Gibson, who pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to the 1967 world championship with three victories over the Boston Red Sox in the World Series, signed with the Cards for an undisclosed salary, believed to be around $80,000.

And voters of Seattle and King County, Washington, apparently approved in Tuesday's special election construction of a $40 million domed, multipurpose stadium, thus validating the American League franchise awarded to Seattle for the 1969 season.

"Seattle's taking its place in the major leagues is a victory for the entire community," said Max Soriano, president of Pacific Northwest Sports.

Olympics Bars German Girl

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Heidi Biehl Schmidt of West Germany couldn't enter the finish ski area of the ladies' slalom at the Winter Olympics Tuesday, even though she won a gold medal at the 1960 Winter Games and placed fourth in the 1964 Games. French police said she didn't have the proper documents despite the fact she is reporting the Games for a Cologne newspaper.

Soggy Course for Opening at Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and a number of the pro golf tour's longer hitters put their muscles to good use today in the pro-am kickoff of the $100,000 Phoenix Open over a soggy Phoenix Country Club course.

The 6-765-yard, par 71 course has been hit by five days of intermittent rain. This, coupled with a new fairway carpet of rye grass, put a premium on power.

The Phoenix Open, at the $100,000 figure for the first time this year, has lost only one day to rain in recent years.

Tom Weiskopf, who found out last weekend that winning could be fun by capturing the $30,000 top money in the Andy Williams San Diego Open, is another one of the longer hitters rated a good chance to cart home the $20,000 winner's purse here.

Defending Phoenix Open titlist Julius Boros, fourth best money winner on the tour last year, has been having his troubles this winter. But he always plays well at the Phoenix CC.

Other top names here are PGA champion Don January, Frank Beard, Bob Goaly, Dan Sikes, Al Gelberger, Doug Sande, George Archer, Dave Mayr and Gardner Dickinson.

Monroe's Rally Fails for Bullets

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, taking charge in the manner of Oscar Robertson, scored 56 points and rallied the Baltimore Bullets repeatedly Tuesday night before running out of miracles.

With 27 seconds remaining in overtime, the Baltimore rookie missed a penalty free throw which would have tied the score and the Los Angeles Lakers won the National Basketball Association game 119-116.

The muffed foul shot didn't take the lustre off Monroe's performance.

The 6-foot-3 guard, bidding for NBA Rookie of the Year honors, broke Walt Chamberlin's Civic Center record of 51 points and topped by eight the Baltimore team record of 48 set by Walt Bellamy. He sank 20 of 33 shots from the floor.

Monroe poured in 37 points after intermission, rallying the Bullets from 11, eight and five-point deficits.

In the clutch, however, it was the Lakers' one-two scoring punch of Jerry West and Elgin Baylor which paid off.

Baylor, who moved into third place among the NBA's all-time scorers with 32 points, tied the regulation game at 107-107 on two free throws with 22 seconds remaining.

West, who scored 47 while playing seven minutes less than Monroe, made five points in the five-minute overtime. Two foul shots by Darrall Imhoff with 35 seconds left provided the victory margin.

In other NBA contests Tuesday, Boston beat Detroit 119-116 in overtime, Chicago topped San Diego 114-102, St. Louis beat Cincinnati 123-111 and Philadelphia turned back San Francisco 112-105.

In the ABA, Pittsburgh beat New Jersey 118-114, Indiana took Oakland 120-109 and Kentucky overhauled Anaheim 104-

Two Return Cub Contracts

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Adolfo Phillips and infielder Leo Ella returned their signed contracts to the Chicago Cubs today.

Pitcher Joe Niekro, who posted 10-7 as a rookie last season, signed Tuesday. The Cubs now have 36 out of 39 players under contract.

Phillips batted .268 with 17 homers and 70 runs batted in, Ella hit .287 in 101 games for Tacoma.

At yesterday's Kiwanis Club meeting at Town & Country George Frazier presented the manager of the local General Ad-just ment Bureau, Howard Hop-kins, who presented a film by the American Insurance Asso-ciation, "Lethal Lady". The film showed the complete devas-tation of Hurricane Betsy.

The Day Started With a Song

SEATTLE (AP) — For 15 singers at telephone switch-boards in the local telegraph of-fice Valentine's Day will start with a song and end with a sore throat.

"A lot of people think we're kidding or that it's just a tape recording," says Mrs. Mabel Jones, supervisor of the sing-ing-telegram girls. "Some laugh and some cry, but it's never dull around here."

Congress in Stalemate on Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional stalemate over President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge is the toughest test yet for the economic theory that has guided national policy during the 1960s.

The outcome will chart the fu-ture course of the "new econom-ics" for years to come.

Keystone of this theory is the argument that changes in tax rates and federal spending can smooth out the bumps in the business cycle and foster a healthy, steady economic growth.

A tax cut when the nation faces recession is supposed to perk things up. This part of the theory was tested in 1964 and again in 1965 when tax cuts were voted by Congress.

But the surcharge battle re-presents the first time the pol-icy has gone the other way—to ward a tax increase—and politi-cal realities have so far proved stronger than economic theory.

rest of you. Information fed into the computer is drawn from two tests—a one-hour intelligence test and a multipage personality test.

Most people lie a little about their personalities. Some cannot draw the line between what they are and what they would like to be and others, like me, want to make themselves sound as ap-pealing as possible to avoid end-ing up with a series of machine-picked duds.

Once the tests are processed, you just sit back and receive callers—up to 10 of them every 60 days for the next five years.

My first date was 48-001-822 and I judged from his number that he had been trying a while. Trust a first impression.

48-001-822 was a white collar worker, 29, Protestant, 6-foot-1, 185 pounds, black hair, brown eyes, did not smoke, did not drink, was never convicted of a crime and was never committed to a mental institution.

It wasn't gentle questioning on my part that disclosed all this, but a photostat fact sheet that precedes every man chan-nelled my way. CMJ also rates every member—they said he was very good—and includes a picture. His was a little overex-posed and for all I knew, I would be going out with a pair of teeth.

Without going into detail, let me say the computer struck out on this one. Perhaps someone bent my IBM card.

My second date is supposed to be 48-001-539, although it's been more than a month now and I haven't heard from him. He lives in Prosser, Wash., some 170 miles away, and since it ap-pears he's too busy to write and too cheap to call, that could be a major hang-up.

In all honesty, I have nothing to complain about. This service was given to me free so I could write a story about it—and I was happy to do it. As one bro-chure points out: "Only faith, love, patience, understanding and each member working to in-crease our membership will bring the happiness and success you desire."

I've done my part. Now it's up to IBM.

Protests News Ban Suggested by Lawyers

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Enactment by the American Bar Association of proposed res-trictions on news coverage of the court and the police station would contribute to increasing the alarming growth of crime in this country," David N. Schutz, president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Asso-ciation, said Tuesday.

Schutz, editor of the Redwood

City (Calif.) Tribune, said in a statement that approval of the "Reardon Report" by the ABA governing body, the House of Delegates, in Chicago, Feb. 19, would come at a time when more news should be printed about crime instead of less, so that added public support for improved law enforcement might be obtained.

"Less news about the revolting crime situation is certain to result in lulling the people into a sense of complacency," Schutz said.

The ABA committee on fair trial and free press, headed by Judge Paul Reardon of Massa-chusetts, would, said Schutz, "deny the news media fullest access to what transpires in the courtroom and put restrictions on what police officers may say about crime on the unproved ABA contention that the press is interfering with fair trial."

"To arouse public concern about the staggering increase of the criminal element in this country, the press should be get-ting the support of the Ameri-can Bar Association in putting more light, not less, on the de-plorable conditions so that our people may once again feel safe in their homes and on their streets."

Dear Parent:

We would like to offer a word of comfort to you both, as your own youngster begins his driving career.

The first thing to understand is that driving is a skill, and that - like all skills - it requires much practice. The heads of many Driver Education programs at schools advise newly-licensed drivers to log hundreds of driving miles under certain controlled conditions.

Their recommendations, which parallel the recommendations of safety experts are these: 1. The youngster should be driving a car that's mechanically sound. 2. He should be solo-driving, or driving with his parents, not with a carful of chums. 3. He should be driving on little traveled roads. 4. He should be driving in daylight, only in fair weather at first.

Gradually, as handling a car begins to feel natural to him - and remember, each car handles differently - you'll want him to drive in a variety of situations under your supervision.

In your talks with your children, one point you should try to emphasize most is this: "The car you are driving is our legal and moral responsibility." Even if your youngster has saved enough to pay for a road-worthy car of his own, that car is still your responsibility. This gives you, as parents, indisputable authority to take away driving privileges temporarily when you believe they've been forfeited.

You will find that such an understanding with your youngsters should probably work out pretty well. It just seems to take a little patience, the courage and self-discipline to use your parental authority justly... and a sturdy sense of humor!

Sincerely,

George T. Frazier

We Hear From Georgia About End Symbol '30'

One of our items last month, "30—Boshi!" was circulated across the South in the editorial reprint service of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, Chattanooga, Tenn. It drew an amusing cross-fire from a fellow editor in Georgia, and Walter C. Johnson, Jr., secretary-manager of SNPA, was thoughtful enough to send me the Georgian's reply. Here it is:

HOPE (ARK.)
STAR KILLS A
FINAL ILLUSION

By SYLVAN MEYER
Editor Gainesville (Ga.) Daily Times

There's little enough romance left in the newspaper business. Otherwise, one would not be moved to take issue with the Hope, Ark. Star's comment that ending news stories with the symbol "30" is passe.

Maybe at the Hope, Ark. Star they no longer use "30," but we like to use "30." "30" has a flair to it, a style. It means the matter is wrapped up, ended, over.

At Hope, Ark., they use the pound symbol or the number symbol.

Indeed, an editorial in the Hope, Ark. Star calls "30" a minor irritation for copyreaders, pretentious, an affectation. The Hope, Ark. Star accurately traces the use of "30" to the telegraph days, alleging that newspapers "stole stories from the railroad telegraph" and picked up the symbol.

Reputable authorities bear out part of that story. Actually, in the not so old days, telegraphers sent stories to newspapers, too, as well as messages along railroad lines. The end symbol of "30" was a natural. In Morse Code it is three dots and five dashes, an easy and distinctive closing indication. Most of the time, the man with the key merely sent three dots and held his key down until ready to resume sending. Thus "30."

The Hope, Ark. Star says that since newspapers have wire services, "30" has become "taboo" and out of style.

Say it isn't so, Hope, Ark. Star.

Those traditions and legends that once lured youngsters to newspapering added up to a special world. The glamor may be wearing away with the demise of type lice, of the immediacy of page one, the urge to print an extra, the battered hat with a card in the ribbon, the reporter who insisted on getting all the news even when sources clamored up on him.

But, gosh, Hope, Ark. Star, let's not eliminate everything that gives our calling a flavor of its very own.

The old pastepots have given away to oil cans filled with rubber cement; the smell of proofing ink disappeared with photocopies of glued-up, electric typewriter strips of copy; barking city editors have yielded to the personnel and management experts and if we stop the press for a story we'll miss buses, trains and motor routes.

Leave us leave something.

Fire Destroys a Home Here

Bill to Allow School Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate Tuesday attached an amendment to an education bill that would allow the Russellville School District to issue bonds to relieve its financial difficulties this year.

The amendment would allow the school board to issue bonds that would be repaid within 10 years. The amendment applies to districts with "nonbonded indebtedness" at the time of the bill's enactment.

Salaries Adjusted by Board

In regular session last night the City Board of Directors adjusted the salaries of six Street Department employees to conform with salaries paid to workers holding similar positions in other departments. None of the adjustments amounted to over $15.

The group agreed to purchase a Pulva Mixer for the Street Department, including attachments, for the sum of $4,500.

Roy Anderson was according moral support as a "civil-minded citizen" for the memorial he is erecting to his late wife. Mr. Anderson is building attractive new entrances to Rose Hill Cemetery.

Some rates for garbage collection will be revised, the group decided after a discussion. Residents of Oakhaven approached the group council to see if the town could work out some deal for once-a-week garbage collection there. The Board advised the matter would be further discussed following a revision of fees.

Harry Shiver, at the request of the Board, said that asphalt fiber tile used for sewer lines was inferior to tile and cast iron pipe. Following a discussion the group voted to draw up an ordinance which would ban the use of the tile.

Don Manus & Associates, Little Rock, was hired at the rate of $350 per month to grade a workable program for Urban Renewal. The firm was hired at the request of the City Planning Commission.

Permission was granted to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Underwood and Mrs. and Mrs. Earl Hampton to establish a family amusement center in the old Achley Furniture building on South Main. They were told it would be allowed as long as the center conformed to civic and city rules and regulations. Plans call for pool tables, domino tables and snack bar, and other games.

Commission Believes Civil Disorders Were Spontaneous

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's Commission on Civil Disorders is reportedly moving toward the conclusion that last summer's urban riots were spontaneous—not the result of a conspiracy.

Unless new evidence is unearthed within the next few weeks, commission sources said that will be a major point in the panel's final report, now being written for release about March 1. Another section will make urgent recommendations on steps to prevent disorders.

"In each case we found agitation before, during and after the riots, but no planned conspiracy," one official said. "As far as we can tell, all broke out spontaneously."

"That part of our investigation is proceeding right up to the last moment."

Thus far, the commission's findings correspond with testimony it received last August from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. In the six months since then, some of the commission's top aides have devoted much of their time to searching for evidence that the riots were planned.

One investigator reported he encountered, in quiet visits to several urban areas, individual agitators "who like to claim credit for disturbances they had in their cities. But they really can't."

The 11-member panel was appointed by President Johnson last July 29 to investigate the causes of riots that scarred Detroit, Newark and other cities and to recommend preventative action.

The first two sections of the report—what happened and why—are virtually complete, sources said, and members

Wage Bill Is Passed in Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate passed Tuesday a minimum wage bill that will be a major point in the panel's final report, now being written for release about March 1.

Both of the minimum wage bills provide for a $1 a hour minimum with 10 cent increases in each of the next two years.

However, the upper chamber seemed to favor a bill by Sen. Richard Griffin that would have provided stiffer penalties for violations of the law.

The other bill, an administration measure, passed 24-9 after lengthy and fiery debate while Griffin's bill passed 32-2 after little debate.

An amendment by Rep. Cecil Alexander of Heber Springs to use the 1965 House apportionment in the election of delegates to a constitutional convention touched off the heated debate in the lower chamber.

The proposal, finally defeated 60-33, generally lined up the rural forces against the urban forces. The proposal would have allowed each county at least one delegate.

Earlier in the day the House passed a Senate measure calling for the electorate to vote the November on whether to call a convention. The bill was sent to the governor for his signature.

The House did approve several amendments, including one to require the election of all 100 delegates and another to provide for a runoff election for the delegates.

Also approved were amendments allowing the legislature to determine how many newspapers would be designated to publish a document produced by the convention and one that would provide that any alternate proposals on a new constitution ballot not be adopted if the entire document were rejected by the voters.

Most of the opponents to Alexander's amendment charged

British Not Optimistic About Peace

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant delayed his return to New York today and flew to Paris instead, possibly to get a message from Hanoi, but British officials were not optimistic that Vietnam peace negotiations are any closer.

After meetings with a North Vietnamese representative in New Delhi and talks with Soviet and British leaders in Moscow and London, Thant decided Tuesday night to go to Paris after his baggage had been put on a New York plane. Some reports said he received word that a message from Hanoi had arrived for him at the Paris offices of North Vietnamese envoy Mai Van Bo.

These reports said the message could be a reply to proposals for peace talks made by Thant to Nguyen Hao, North Vietnam's consul general in New Delhi.

However, there was little optimism in London that a further contact between Thant and Hanoi would be decisive for efforts to get the Americans and the Communists to a conference table.

"There are simply no signs of willingness by North Vietnam to talk peace on terms that the United States could accept," one source said.

Thant conferred in London with Foreign Secretary George Brown and Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who recently visited both Soviet leaders in Moscow and President Johnson in Washington.

After talking with Thant, Wilson told the House of Commons again Tuesday that "only a very narrow gap" keeps the United States and North Vietnam from starting negotiations.

Thant's aides were secretive about the purpose of his trip to Paris. They indicated he would confer with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and possibly with President Charles de Gaulle.

It could not be established whether Thant intended to meet personally with Hanoi's man in Paris.

A spokesman at U.N. headquarters in New York said Thant would return there some time Thursday.

Rain, Sleet Through Thursday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain mixed with sleet and snow is expected for Arkansas through Thursday with temperatures remaining rather cold.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said snow developed in Southwest Arkansas early today and the movement was toward the northeast. Little or no accumulation was predicted but some bridges in the south portion reportedly were beginning to ice over.

Low temperatures reported around the state this morning ranged from 21 degrees at Harrison to 32 at Texarkana. Highs Tuesday ranged from 34 at Harrison to 40 at Pine Bluff.

Precipitation reported around the state in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included .05 of an inch at Texarkana.

New Vietnam Call-up Cuts Deeper Into the Strategic Reserves

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hurry-up shipment of another 10,500 combat troops to Vietnam cuts deeper into a strategic reserve of full-time soldiers which senior military officers say has been dangerously depleted.

These officers, say privately they believe at least one division should be called up from the Army National Guard to bolster the strategic reserve of divisions available in the United States for swift deployment around the world.

The question of a call-up of group reserve units is under study and no decision has been reached. But pressure for such a call-up is rising.

Military officers in the Pentagon express belief further ground force deployments to Vietnam will be necessary and that the current buildup objective of 525,000 will be raised. This also is under study.

A Congress member who declined to be identified said the dispatch of more troops to Vietnam in addition to the 10,500 would be announced shortly. "They're already programmed," he said.

Three days after the Viet Cong opened their devastating city offensive, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen "we believe that the American forces there at present are adequate."

In the interim, Gen. William C. Westmoreland sent out a call for more ground troops. In view of that offensive and the continuing North Vietnamese threat to attack the Khe Sanh stronghold in northwestern South Vietnam.

Either McNamara was overruled or has changed his mind since his Feb. 1 statement that U.S. forces in Vietnam are adequate.

Civilian officials at the Pentagon dispute the idea U.S. military strength is being stretched perilously thin. They say there are nearly one million men—not counting reservists—in uniform in the United States who could be drawn on for overseas deployment.

But senior officers argue such numbers are misleading, since a large part of this total is in basic or other training or performing rear-area functions.

Key elements of the strategic reserve, these officers say, are the combat-ready regular Army and Marine divisions in the United States.

There were 10 such divisions in this country in July 1965 when President Johnson ordered a major build-up of American ground forces in Vietnam. Eight of them were Army divisions, two were Marine.

There are four Army divisions in the United States—and one of them is losing a brigade of highly trained paratroopers to the Vietnam war.

The Army has begun to form another division, the Sixth Infantry, at Ft. Campbell, Ky., but this outfit will not be combat-ready for about nine

MIGs Downed as Bombers Blast Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers shot down two MIG-17 jets today, blasted three North Vietnamese airfields and lent a hand to U.S. Marines trying to drive diehard Communist holdouts from the walled Citadel of Hue.

Two Air Force F4 Phantoms encountered the MIGs 30 to 40 miles northwest of Hanoi and brought them down with missiles and 20mm cannon, the Air Force said.

This raised the total number of MIGs claimed downed in aerial combat in the last three years to 110, compared with 40 American warplanes lost to MIGs.

The U.S. Command said that during strikes against North Vietnam Tuesday, Air Force and Navy bombers attacked the airfield six miles southwest of Haiphong, the Bai Thung field 70 miles south of Hanoi, and the Vinh airfield 140 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

As the battle for Hue continued into its third week, U.S. Marine jets streaked down on the former Imperial capital of Vietnam to bomb, strafe and rocket an outer wall of the old Citadel behind which remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment stubbornly held out.

The jets made pass after pass, attempting to blast a path through the wall for the Leathernecks on the ground. But the North Vietnamese continued to lay down heavy barrages of fire on the Marine positions a few hundred yards away.

The interior area held by the Communists apparently was still off limits to the U.S. fliers because it contained historic 19th century monuments and the Imperial throne room.

A senior U.S. officer said the North Vietnamese held up in the Citadel were believed running low on ammunition and other supplies. He said they apparently had managed to hold out this long by getting supplies at night from the nearby north bank of the Perfume River.

The Air Force also announced it is investigating reports of "friendly casualties" when half the bombs dropped Tuesday by U.S. B52 bombers on the closest raid they have ever made to Saigon landed outside the target area.

The spokesman said 100,000 pounds of bombs went astray, indicating three or four of the high-level Stratofortresses made the raid. The target was Viet Cong troop concentrations 10 1/2 miles north of the city, and the spokesman added that even the bombs that went astray landed in an area for which South Vietnamese officials had given target clearance.

It was the first report of a bombing error by the big B52s in nearly three years of operations over South Vietnam, but most of their strikes have been against enemy-controlled areas.

Chief Asst. Atty. Gen. Les Evitts said in an opinion to Howard County Judge Jones Floyd of Nashville that the constitutional amendment that created the commission limited commissioners to one term and provided that "none can succeed himself."

Evitts said he thought that would apply to Johnson, even though he was not serving a full seven-year term.

Johnson was appointed to the post Oct. 13, 1967 to complete the unexpired term of the late Verli Hunspheth of Harrison.
